*Check individual major requirements when choosing your math and science classes

+Three credits of minority studies (MNS) and three credits of non-western culture (NW) are required. Good choices are Sociology 101, 130, Art 175, Music 273, Geography 101, 110, 115, Anthropology 100, 102, 104, 204, History 161, 162, Political Science 160.

NOTE: All CNR majors require four introductory natural resource courses (Natural Resources 150, 151, 250 and 251), that may not be offered at other colleges. These four courses are prerequisites for the CNR Summer Camp requirement, which is normally taken after the sophomore year since Summer Camp is a prerequisite for most upper level courses. If these classes are not offered at your College, it is recommended that you transfer to UWSP after completing one year at the UW-Colleges, especially if you are majoring in forestry, soils and water resources.
