JOB SUMMARY:

Working for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is more than a career. It is a commitment shared by more than 9,000 men and women representing a diverse range of professions, backgrounds, and specialties who are dedicated to conserving, protecting, and enhancing fish, wildlife, plants, and their habitats. From the Arctic Ocean to the South Pacific, from the Atlantic to the Caribbean, Service personnel are working hard to ensure future generations will be able to enjoy nature's beauty and bounty.

LIVING IN/AROUND HOMER, ALASKA

Homer, Alaska (pop 4,500) sits at the edge of spectacular wilderness areas that offer kayaking, hiking, bird watching, tide pooling, fishing, and wildlife watching opportunities. Homer has earned the name "cosmic hamlet" for its off-beat flavor, and the town has a thriving cultural side with art galleries, theaters, frequent touring performers, a surprisingly high number of excellent restaurants for such a small town; bookstores, several grocery stores, a hospital, medical clinics, pharmacies, police and fire departments, and a U.S. Coast Guard cutter for safety at sea. Homer is also the jumping-off point to several state and national parks and refuges. Discover life beyond the end of the road! More information can be found at:

This position is located at the Alaska Maritime National Wildlife Refuge in Homer, Alaska. The employee assists with the operations of the refuge's visitor services, administrative, and biological programs through recruiting, training, and administering a volunteer work force. Work is directed towards providing the public with safe, accessible, and quality wildlife-dependent recreation opportunities (e.g., hunting, fishing, wildlife observation, wildlife photography, environmental education and interpretation.)
