

Front-of-House / Assistant GM Position

Farm 255 is seeking to hire and invest in an experienced individual for its Front-of-House management team.

We are a unique and pioneering farm-to-table establishment with an operating model that is individual in its approach as well as its origin. Directly connected to Full Moon Farms, our own biodynamic production farm located 4 miles from our restaurant in Athens, Georgia, we steward 100 acres of historic farmland in organic vegetable row crops, forest-raised pigs and pasture-raised chickens and cows, and in addition operate a 100-member Community Supported Agriculture program. Our establishment is a mainstay of the cultural life of Athens, as we are not only a 140-seat restaurant, but also a full bar and live music venue. We are intimately connected to the pulse of the town, and strive to act not only as an educational eatery, but also as a vibrant community hub.

We seek qualified candidates with at least 3 years experience in Front-of-House operations. Possible candidates must be passionate for food and the industry, and have well-versed experience in all aspects of service, staff management, and general restaurant operations. Candidates should be ready to explore the challenges and successes of operating a restaurant with a particular code of ethics while still maintaining the uncompromising details necessary to provide a superlative dining experience. Prior experience with the farm-to-table concept and operations is helpful although not required, but a commitment to learning about them is. Candidates should thrive in a collaborative/team environment, be extremely hard working, self-motivated, and highly detail oriented. Opportunity for growth, both within and outside of our current single unit, is very strong. Compensation, schedule, and exact role will be determined by candidate's experience, skill set, and personal goals.
