“Auditing” means you attend class regularly without having to take exams, do laboratory work, participate in class discussions, or do any other class work except listen. You receive no academic credit for auditing a course, but you may take the course again later for credit. You may audit as many courses as you wish, up to 5 credits beyond the normal maximum study load.

For additional information on fees and study loads go to the Academic Information (A-Z Search) link on the Registration & Records website <http://www.uwsp.edu/reg-rec/> and click auditing.
