The Life: Tricked

PIMPS/TRAFFICKERS CAN LOOK LIKE AN ORDINARY GUY OR GIRL. They can also be non-traditional.

- A family member who pimps out their child for food, money or drugs.
- Traffickers can also be female, and often pimps will work as couples trying to recruit young girls- where the female might act as a mentor, friend or big sister.
- Often the traffickers and their victims share the same national, ethnic, or cultural background, allowing the trafficker to better understand and exploit the vulnerabilities of their victims.

The Life: Targeted

Traffickers shop for their victims:

- Online
- Shopping malls
- Bus stops
- Schools
- After-school programs
- Hang-out locations
- Popular fast food restaurants
- Parks
- Foster homes
- Other places where teens gather

800%
increase in juvenile sex trafficking in US in the last five years is attributed to the Internet -NCMEC

10

The Life: Grooming

Grooming is the process of befriending and building trust with a child or sometimes the family of a child. The trafficker will take a special interest in the child to create a relationship. This relationship could be that of a boyfriend/girlfriend relationship, a mentor or a friend.

FACT
Pimps invest time and effort forming a bond with their victims. They often buy gifts, provide a place to stay and give affection before revealing their real intent - to sell them for sex.

Warning Signs:

- Lots of Unexplained Money and New Clothes
- New Friends
- Unexpected Absences
- Change in Behavior

Dr. Abraham Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs

"My job is to make sure she has what she needs, personal hygiene, get her nails done, take her to buy an outfit, take her out to eat, make her feel wanted.. but I keep the money."
- Convicted trafficker, Antoin Thurman

- Self-Actualization
Pursue life goals, inner talent, creativity, fulfillment
- Self-Esteem
Respect from others, confidence, achievement, individuality
- Love and Belonging

Why do victims stay?

- Provides a sense of security and stable home life
- Social Isolation
- Trauma Bond (Stockholm Syndrome)
- Perceived inability to escape the situation
- Promises of love, security, income, opportunity, adventure and/or drugs in exchange for loyalty
- Withholding perceived love, affection and attention - "Intermittent Reinforcement" principle
- Physical threats to themselves or their children's safety

Sex & Labor Trafficking

- INVESTIGATE SUPPLIERS, BROKERS and END USERS
- INVESTIGATE OTHER CRIMES

CASE STUDY

According to federal prosecutors, from 2004 through December 2009, Childs operated as a pimp in strip clubs in the Milwaukee area and elsewhere, and he would recruit women, including the victim, along with at least one minor, to work for him. They would perform prostitution dates, and were required to give him the proceeds. He would take the women to strip clubs and other locations inside and outside of Wisconsin, including clubs known as TNT and The Hardware Store. Prosecutors said to prevent the women from leaving him, he would, at times, use force or threats of force, and he worked with employees at the various clubs to manage and coerce the women.

Labor Trafficking

Five People Charged with Forced Labor Conspiracy Involving Trafficking of Victims from Georgia to Wisconsin Farms

United States Attorney Matthew D. Krueger of the Eastern District of Wisconsin announced today that five people were indicted for conspiracy to commit forced labor, labor trafficking, and five additional labor-related offenses. The defendants are alleged to have trafficked the victims from Georgia to Wisconsin to work on farms located in the Eastern District of Wisconsin in 2016.
