CHILI & SOUP FEED!

It's bound to be a hootin', hollarin' good time at the M&M Maintenance Garage as we get together to enjoy some rip-rootin' chili, along with some daggone great tastin' soup... and all the fixins. The time to git eatin' is set for 11:30 am. You can really help out your T.E.A.M. mates by volunteering to bring your own famous chili or soup, or volunteer to bring some of the other much needed items like: crackers, shredded cheese, sour cream, chopped onions, corn chips or a dessert.

Look for the sign up sheets at Nelson Hall and the M&M Building to pitch in and to prove once-and-for-all that you are the best buscuit roller this side of the Rio Grande! Help make this year's Chili & Soup Feed a genuine frolic! See you there pardner!

In conjunction with this event, T.E.A.M. will once again be collecting your donations of non-perishable food items to assist "The Cupboard", a UWSP program that allows students to get groceries for a meal when they are in need. The Cupboard also accepts toiletry donations such as toilet paper and toothbrushes. Look for drop off locations in the M&M Building and Nelson Hall beginning Monday, November 10th through Friday, November 14th and Thank You!

Pet Tales

Hi! My name is Bella. I'm a Pembroke Welsh Corgi and I'm 1 & ½ years old. My new human "Mom and Dad" are Cindy and Mike Buttke. They adopted me when my previous human Mom was killed in a car accident a couple months ago. Losing my first Mom made me very sad and confused, but I am adjusting well to my new home. I'm getting the new Mom and Dad trained pretty quickly.

Just to keep them on their toes, lots of times I just don't respond when they call my name. It's lots of fun to see them get all upset when I ignore them! I love to go on walks, chase bicycles and eat. (Eating is my favorite thing of all time!) I love to play ball also, but it confuses me a little. I give Mom my tennis ball, and she just keeps throwing it like she doesn't want it. Then I bring it back to her and she throws it again. Doesn't she realize I want her to keep it? Oh well, humans are strange. Mom and Dad tell me I'm strange too, though... they laugh at the way I sleep on my back with my legs up in the air and how I watch TV with them (I mean, when I see my doggie friends on TV talking to me, I talk back to them! It's only right.) My favorite foods are carrots and anything Mom or Dad drops on the floor. Thanks for reading my story!

SIDE NOTE: The Pembroke Welsh Corgi was bred for herding, with legs designed to be short to keep the corgi close to the ground so the dog didn't get kicked. The tail was also bred-out so it didn't get broken or bit off. The Pembroke Welsh Corgi is known to be a smallish dog (usually 25 pounds max) with a large dog attitude. They are not good with children, as children typically do not want to be herded! The breed is most known for being the constant companions of the current Queen Elizabeth.

DID YOU KNOW...

TURKEYS CAN HAVE HEART ATTACKS?

It is said to be true. According to sources, during US Air Force "speed of sound" testing, a local farmer claims that his turkeys were so shocked by the "sonic booms" that they dropped dead from apparent heart attacks.

DATELINE: NOVEMBER, 1621

The newly arrived Pilgrims and the Wampanoag Indians gathered at Plymouth for an autumn harvest celebration, an event regarded as America's "first Thanksgiving." Pilgrim chronicler Edward Winslow noted in his journal that the Wampanoag guests arrived with an offering of five deer. Culinary historians speculate that the deer was roasted on a spit over a smoldering fire and that the colonists might have used some of the venison to whip up a hearty stew.

SO WHAT ABOUT THE TURKEY?

Winslow noted in his journal that the colony's governor, William Bradford, sent four men on a "fowling" mission in preparation for the three-day event. Wild—but not domestic—turkey was indeed plentiful in the region and a common food source for both English settlers and Native Americans. But it is just as likely that the fowling party returned with other birds that the colonists regularly consumed, such as ducks, geese and swans.
