

BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

Community Experience

The Business and Economics Community Experience at UW-Stevens Point isn't just a place to live — it's built for first-year students ready to explore business, connect with like-minded peers and jumpstart their future.

Located in Thomson Hall, this immersive living experience — created in collaboration with the Sentry School of Business and Economics — helps you build real relationships, access career-building opportunities early and grow alongside students in similar majors.

HERE'S WHAT YOU GET:

- A built-in network of future business leaders
- Curated programs and events designed to help you thrive — in and out of the classroom
- A space where ideas, ambition and action collide
