It is imperative that the world know that in the U.S., the actors that will provide the leadership necessary to meet our Paris Agreement objectives.

We, the undersigned mayors, governors, college and university leaders, businesses, and investors are joining forces for the future. We believe that inaction on climate change is economically irrational, morally justifiable, and a threat to national security. We also believe that leadership on climate change can help create millions of good-paying jobs.

The Trump administration's announcement undermines a key pillar in the fight against climate change and damages the world's ability to address the dangerous and costly effects of climate change.

In the absence of leadership from Washington, states, cities, colleges and universities, business, and investors, representing a combined percentage of the U.S. economy, we will pursue ambitious climate goals, working together to be a force for good and to ensure that the U.S. remains a global leader in encouraging emission reductions.

It is imperative that the world know that in the U.S., the actors that will provide the leadership necessary to meet our Paris Agreement objectives.

We, the undersigned mayors, governors, college and university leaders, businesses, and investors are joining forces for the future. We believe that inaction on climate change is economically irrational, morally justifiable, and a threat to national security. We also believe that leadership on climate change can help create millions of good-paying jobs.