Welcome to Chinese 200!

In this course, we will continue to focus on the four main language skills:

LISTENING, SPEAKING, READING, and WRITING.

You will be working with partners and in small groups to facilitate as much conversation as possible. By the end of the semester, you should feel more comfortable hearing and speaking in Chinese on a variety of topics and issues covered in this course.

This class is a continuation of Chinese 101 and 102.

Learning outcomes:

- ✓ Become more conversant in Chinese
- ✓ Improve listening skills and comprehension
- ✓ Grasp fundamental grammar concepts
- ✓ Improve writing skills
- ✓ Learn about and understand Chinese culture

Classroom Etiquette

DO

- Turn off phones and iPods
- Remove hats and sunglasses

DON'T

- Chew gum
- Eat in class
- Use your computer for anything other than classroom activities

There will be a test after each chapter, a midterm oral exam, and a final comprehensive exam which will include oral exams.

Quizzes will be given every Thursday to ensure that students have understood new material and characters learned. Make-up quizzes are not permitted.

Grade Breakdown

This class is interactive; regular attendance and active participation are critical! Three or more unexcused absences → reduction of points on the final exam. Missed assignments due to unexcused absences cannot be made up. Documented absences for medical or other issues will be excused.

Most of the work for this class (compositions, exercises) will be completed independently outside the classroom. Homework must be done on time in order to make the best use of group time during the class hours.

Some suggestions ...

- Attendance is important! Come to class on time and prepared.
- This is a language class – in order to be able to speak the target language, you must speak the language in class. Participate actively!
- Do not hesitate to practice or to make mistakes. We can learn from the mistakes we make. Don't understand something? Ask the instructor!
- Regularly prepare and review. You are responsible for the material whether or not it is reviewed in class! This includes:

Vocab videos	Textbook chapters	Workbook exercises	Material from previous classes
--------------	-------------------	--------------------	--------------------------------
- If you think you might benefit from tutoring, please discuss with your instructor as early in the semester as possible.
- Install the Chinese language bar on your own computer.

Lab policy & oral work: Students must spend at least two hours per week on lab work.

Department attendance policy: Regular attendance is essential to your success in learning a foreign language. If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to complete the assignments and attend the next class fully prepared. Departmental policy authorizes a deduction of one point per absence from the final exam score. No make-up quizzes are allowed.
