Course requirements include:

- Preparation of Professional Library list (annotated)
• Reflection and consideration of leadership principles as related to literacy leadership drawn from readings and reading specialist interviews

• Implementation plan (built from implications of ED 749 data gathering), readings, and resources

• Staff development/support materials (such as readings lists, book study materials, newsletter, powerpoint/smartboard, handouts etc.) to support implementation plan

Descriptions

Preparation of Professional Library List (50) – Compile an annotated bibliography of professional resources that you own, have drawn from, or hope to use in the future. It may be beneficial to group these according to topic and if not, please list in alphabetical order by author. Please use APA format.

Consideration of Leadership (50) - Drawing from readings in Part 6 of the text used in ED 749, Chapter Thirteen in Reading Specialists and Literacy Coaches in the Real World, your own personal experiences and reflections on leadership, and interviews with a minimum of two reading specialists – write a reflection paper on leadership in reading. This paper should reflect your views and ideas related to your work as a leader in the reading specialist position. Include references when talking about or citing information from readings and interviews. (APA format)

Implementation Plan (100) - Drawing from your research findings from ED 749 – identify your major categories of implications – identifying areas of strength and areas for growth and development. Design a plan for working with your school district. Identify major priorities for the work – and the process(es) you would establish in order to cultivate these priorities in your setting. For each priority area indicate supporting reference information – drawn from your readings in ED 749 and from the text for ED 750 along with additional readings you have done. Also connect the priorities with the Wisconsin Teacher Standards and the Wisconsin State Standards for Reading/Language Arts. Include a minimum of four references and readings in each priority area. In describing the processes – design supporting materials to support these priorities – to include readings lists, book study, newsletters, or other support materials. Include staff development materials as described in the following item.

Staff Development Materials (50) Create materials for supporting your implementation plan – this may include power point(s) for sharing with colleagues, parents, and other interested groups.
